OIL NOTES

Jellico has struck oil.
Oil has been struck in Christian county.
Allen county oil men will begin work soon.
The Sunnybrook field is being developed to a big extent.
Operations in Nicholas county have been inaugurated.
Contractors of Beaumont, Texas, are arranging to send drilling outfits into this part of the State.
Two companies in the Ragland district are using natural gas from their wells to run their machinery.
The Consolidated Oil and Refining Company of America, organized with Eastern capital, has secured leases on 192,000 acres in Kentucky.
Do you want to interest a company to come to your county and bore for oil? Write the Kentucky Oil Journal, Barbourville, for information.

A Carlisle company has leased a large amount of land in the Salt Well neighborhood, four miles west of Owingsville; and will soon sink wells for oil.—Kentucky Oil Journal.
Analysis of oil from Powell county shows:
Water and Naptha 1.75 per cent.
Kerosene 9.33 per cent.
Lubricating oil 43.71 per cent.
Paraffine oil 21.8 per cent.
The Barbourville News will shortly issue an illustrated edition of some 50 pages, presenting the attractions and advantages of Knox county and the mountain counties. Everyone should see a copy of this industrial edition which will be conservatively written, and will truthfully picture the situation of a land which will soon be "flowing with milk and honey."

The Big Hill Mining Co. have resumed operations with their diamond drills on Brush creek for the development of their coal lands, which covers a territory on both sides of creek from its mouth to Climax, some ten miles. The holdings will prove to be Rockcastle's richest oil section with Livingston and Skaggs creek closely following.

The lost lead mine, said to have recently been re-discovered in eastern Rockcastle, is praised by one of the Mullins family for its excellent quality as a product. He says: "It's the best squirrel lead I ever used. Yes sir, mate, it kills 'em quicker and deader than anything in the way of lead." He carries a number of the nuggets in his pockets.

Dr. Northcutt, president of the Mt. Sterling Oil Co., was at one time a practicing physician at Wildie, this county. His company will shortly resume operation on their well on Copper creek near Conway from which they moved their machinery some months since to Menifee county, to save leases on which they had contracted to drill by a certain time. The doctor has made money in the oil business.

The Lincoln Democrat is still issuing its proclamation from the hill-tops: "We are right in the centre of the garden spot of the world and there is an ocean of oil right under us. It is only necessary to drill for its development into an immense business, beneficial to everyone in our county and our neighbors." Joe Waters is a man who "blows his own town" and puts in some mighty good licks for his deserving neighboring counties.

Lewis D. Sampson, of the Barbourville News and Kentucky Oil Journal, is doing a great work for the development of South Eastern Kentucky through his two papers. In fact all the State where oil and minerals are to be found are receiving benefits from his work, in properly presenting the news and situation in a readable form and conservative manner. Nothing of a sensational order appears in his papers, except where the situation bears out the statements.

"Billy" Mason has recovered sufficiently from the knockout administered by Congressman Hopkins to announce that he still expects to be reelected. "Billy" always has been strong on expecting.

CURES WHEN DOCTORS FAIL.
Mrs. Frank Chiasson, Patterson, La., writes June 8th, 1901: "I had malaria fever in very bad form; was under treatment by doctors, but as soon as I stopped taking their medicine the fever would return. I used a sample bottle of Herbine, found it helped me. Then bought two bottles, which completely cured me. I feel grateful to you for furnishing such a splendid medicine, and can honestly recommend it to those suffering from malaria, as it will surely cure them." Herbine, 50c. bottle at all druggists

Work has begun on the fair ground in earnest, giving work to some of the loafers. Ladies, all get to work now on your embroidery, drawn work, quilts, etc. We think the highest prizes ought to be given for cookery, as that is a very useful occupation, and good cooks are scarce, especially among the young folks.

HOLDS UP A CONGRESSMAN.

"At the end of the campaign," writes Champ Clark, Missouri's brilliant congressman, "from overwork, nervous tension, loss of sleep and constant speaking I had about utterly collapsed. It seemed that all the organs in my body were out of order, but three bottles of Electric Bitters made me all right. It's the best all-around medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter." If the blind chaplain of the Senate wants to be up to date he should add to his opening prayer: Give us this day our daily apology. Senator Lodge, who has charge of the Philippine bill, must be convinced by this time that the democratic Senators do not scare worth a cent.

M. to assist him that the people along his route may be pleased and the Postmaster General gratified and Uncle Sam pleased with his heroic mail carry.—By J. H. Sigman.

All the power of the republican bosses of the House having failed to prevent the passage of the bill for the admission of Arizona, New Mexico, and Oklahoma, they have now centered their efforts to keep these Territories out of the Union on the Senate, for no other reason than the fear that they would elect democratic Senators.

HOW FORESTRY DIFFERS FROM LUMBERING.

"A working plan is, first of all, a plan for lumbering. It specifies the diameter limit to which trees shall be taken, and includes estimates of the yield. It fixes the areas to be logged over, forecasts the profits to be realized, and sums up the whole situation from a business point of view. In so far, it treats of what is to be done in the forest entirely from the standpoint of the lumberman, and it is based upon the same study of local conditions that any good lumberman makes before he fells a tree. The lumberman's working plan, however, generally considers only the most profitable way of harvesting merchantable timber. The forester's working plan is made with a view to the removal of the mature timber in such a way as to hasten the production of a second crop. In spite of much that has been said to the contrary, there is no other radical difference in purpose between the two. Both wish to make the forest pay as high an interest as possible upon the capital which it represents. The lumberman is usually content receive returns only once from the same area. The forester lumbers with a view to lumbering again. Exactly the same study of the quality and amount of merchantable timber, of the conditions for its transport, and the market open to it for sale, is necessary under lumbering and under forestry."

"Practical forestry has been proved in the Adirondacks and has been found to pay."

Is Hanna, trying to play personal politics with such a dangerous weapon as a miners strike?
